This short documentary video from Channel four shows interviews with some of the older people who paved the way for LGBT rights in the United Kingdom. The older people in the video talk about the long and hard fight to secure acceptance for the LGBT community, and describe how the older people who fought the fight often get overlooked and forgotten.

Assignment

This video could be used to promote a discussion on some of the human and civil rights infringements that LGBT+ older people endured when they were growing up. It could also be used as a vehicle to discuss the evolution of LGBT issues as human and civil rights as well as highlighting some of the rights that have been secured in recent times (for example marriage equality and equality legislation in many countries).
